YOUR LIFE INTERESTS

Many people have a passionate interest in a particular sport or pastime and would like this interest reflected in their funeral service. They may be a lifelong supporter of a football, rugby or cricket team or have a passion for fishing, motorbikes or music. They may have links with one of the armed forces or strong ties to a country of origin.

There are many ways to express life interests through a funeral service, with for example, personalised coffins and special funeral vehicles. Your funeral advisor will have details of exactly what is possible but please take a little time to think about what you would like.

WHAT SHOULD I DO ONCE I'VE COMPLETED THE FORM?

Once you've completed the Funeral Wishes Form, don't just put it in a drawer and forget about it. We recommend that you let your friends and family know that you've made a record of your thoughts and wishes and that you keep a copy of the form with your personal documents where it can be easily found. You could also give a copy to someone that you trust to respect your wishes.

Please return a completed copy to us and we will ensure that your nominated funeral director is aware of your wishes. Over time we understand that some of your wishes may change and if this is the case please amend your 'wishes form' and send us a copy. Alternatively please contact us if you would like another copy of this form.
